A good advertiser particularly puts his show-answers into the newspaper.

Most people "take a look at the advertisements." If they read those of other people, why will they not see yours?

It costs less to print advertisements than to send out salesmen. A good advertisement is seen and read by more people in a day, than most salesmen call on in a year.

An advertisement tells its own story. It makes no mistakes as a sales agent might do, and states exactly what the merchant wants to say, neither more nor less. Advertisements are honest and faithful servants.

Do you pay? asks an agricultural correspondent. We know of some that don't. They subscribe for a paper, read it for a few years for nothing, and then send it back to the publisher with the P. M.'s inscription, "refused." Such hogs as that pay nothing to anybody, if they can help it.

"Goods speak for themselves," but it is only after they are bought that they can do so. An object in advertising is to induce people to buy. Show and test them. If goods speak for themselves, a good advertisement may also speak for the goods.

Some men can see things only retrospectively. Instead of looking forward to what they might do they only look back to what they have done. They learn from experience, after it has become a little late in the day. Such men are the "look-back" farmers. Such farmers were once despised by the so-called "practical" farmers, but when the latter saw the former's crops, they changed their minds.

I am among a good enough business without advertising. No doubt you are doing well enough for your present needs, but do you forget the future? The coming elections, the times of war or pestilence, or any of those many causes which excite the terms of business? These must be considered for and discounted if you would bridge them over. One must make more than he needs, to make a fortune, and advertising is a powerful auxiliary in money-making.

No man should deprive his wife and family of a good local paper. They do not get out from home to learn the news as does the husband and father, and the paper serves to relieve the otherwise lonely home of his absence. It is the worst possible economy to deprive the family of a pleasant, easily and cheaply procured. And yet there are times when they are too poor to take a paper; but they are not poor to spend twenty times the price of a paper every day for whisky and tobacco.

Printing in black.
Printing in white.
Printing in colors.
Of simple or bright.

Printing for merchants.
And land-agents, too;
Printing for any
Who've printing to do;

Printing for bankers,
Clerks, auctioneers,
Printing for druggists,
For dealers in wares.

Printing for drapers,
For grocers, for all,
Who will send in their jobs
Or give us a call.

Printing of pamphlets,
Or bigger books, too;
In fact there are few things
But what we can do.

Printing of labels,
All colors, in fine, sirs,
Especially fit for
Our station producers.

Printing by hand,
Printing by steam,
Printing from type,
Or from blocks—by the team.

Printing of placards,
Printing of bills,
Printing of car-notes
For stores or for mills;

Printing of forms—
All sorts you can get—
Legal, commercial,
Or homes to let.

Printing done quickly,
Bold, stylish or neat.
